Subject: theophylline

Hi Bob,

Just checking in to verify that you received my 15-page fax yesterday about theophylline. To reiterate, I think theophylline has merit as a weight loss/ergogenic supplement, but like ephedrine, some people are concerned with potential negative side effects. I think that if the dose is kept on the low side and we dont HIGHLIGHT the fact that theophylline is a major ingredient, we will receive much less scrutiny. Kind of like putting creatine in MethoxyPro to "hedge the bet" but not bragging about it.

BTW, what is the status of the Winona contract that Dr. A sent (faxed) from Winona last week? Also, relative to the Kent State project, apparently the KSU attorney needs to speak with Cytodyne's attorney about the most recent paperwork. As usual, the researchers are ready to rock but the hold up is administrative. Please advise.

Gotta run. Have a great St. Pat's...

Tim
